Anandalok - Where intellectual disability finds an expression

THE TRUTH ABOUT ANANDALOK

*LET'S CLEAR THIS UP
ONCE AND FOR ALL*

Anandalok is an intellectually disabled care center, not a mental asylum. Our residents are NOT "mentally ill."

They're NOT dangerous or "crazy." They have autism and intellectual disabilities. Neurological differences they're born with that make them see the world in extraordinary ways.

They're artists, musicians, farmers, and craftspeople.

They're sons and daughters who paint with colors we never knew existed.

But because society confuses autism with mental illness, many are abandoned, hidden in shame, or left without care. That ends here.

THAT'S WHERE WE STEP IN.

For 35+ years, Anandalok has been their sanctuary. Our journey began in 1989 with just 7 residents. Today, we're a thriving community of 35 individuals who call Anandalok home.

But here's what people don't realize: This is more than just a residence - It's a Home away from home.

On our 2.4-acre campus in Barasat, our residents don't just live—they learn, create, and thrive.

We run a training school with trained professionals:

- Psychologists and Special Educators who understand their unique needs
- Art, vocal music, and dance teachers who nurture their creativity
- Vocational training educators teaching farming, crafts, and life skills
- Digitalised class room
- Computer Training facility
- Physiotherapists and physical educators ensuring their physical well-being
- Regular teaching staff providing structured learning

Plus, 10+ social workers from different walks of life who dedicate countless hours supporting our residents.

The result? A loving family. Creative expression. Purpose. Medical care. Daily joy and meaningful connections.

RUSHADRU'S STORY

(Name changed to protect privacy)

When Rushadru first arrived at Anandalok, his parents were desperate. At home, he was aggressive, non-verbal, and couldn't connect with anyone—not even his own family. He couldn't express his feelings, couldn't play with other children, and lived in a world of isolation and frustration. His guardians admitted him to our residential program, hoping for even the smallest breakthrough.

Within 6 months, everything changed.

Rushadru started speaking—in his own unique language. He began expressing his thoughts, joining activities, and forming bonds with other residents.

But the most beautiful transformation? His love for dance. Now, whenever music plays, Rushadru doesn't wait for permission—he jumps on stage spontaneously, lost in the joy of movement and rhythm. His infectious smile has become a symbol of hope for everyone at Anandalok.

"We never thought we'd see him this happy," his parents say. "The management's selfless efforts gave us our son back. We're so grateful he has a home where he's truly understood and loved."

This is what Anandalok does. We don't just provide care—we unlock potential that families thought was lost forever.

THE HEARTBREAK WE FACE DAILY

"Our daughter is 25. We're getting old.

Who will care for her when we're gone?"

Every week, desperate families call with breaking voices. Every week, we wish we could say YES to all of them.

RIGHT NOW: We serve 35 beautiful souls

OUR DREAM: To welcome 100 who need us

We have the land. We have the love. What we need is your heart—and your help— to build the infrastructure that transforms dreams into homes.

IMAGINE: 35 more artists finding their voice together.
65 families finding hope.
65 minds that matter.

MEET SOME OF OUR ARTISTS: They are not just medical cases. They're artists, gardeners, musicians, and friends who deserve a place to shine.
